As strange as it may seem, in horary astrology the astrologer does not need to know the birth date of the querent. The date is necessary only in Natal and Elective astrology practice.

To answer an objective question all the astrologer needs to know is the subject and the exact time of the question. From that moment he will obtain the Ascendant/rising sign at the exact time the question was understood and will delineate the chart's particularities, knowing if the querent will reach what he is hoping or not. In the case of a positive answer, the time for the event to happen as a fact in real world will be determined by the astrologer.

The querent can ask about anything and the astrologer will answer according to that chart. Horary astrology deals with all issues in life. If the question is meaningful the cosmos will answer and the astrologer will interpret its signs.

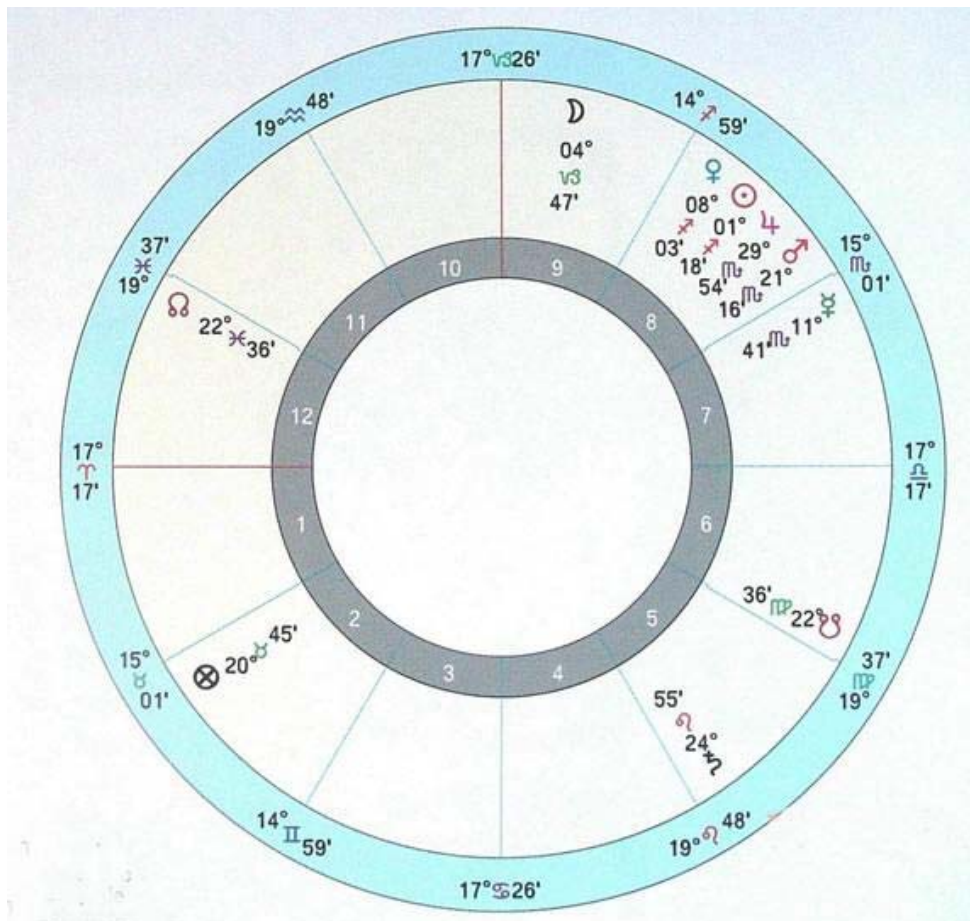

I'll present bellow two examples of horary questions successfully answered:

back to the work she was, since the retrogration of a planet most of the time shows that something signifying the planet turns to the past.

As consolation prize she was told that in the company didn't pay good, if we look at the second house from the Midheaven: it's ruled by the Moon in a really bad state.

In fact, the querent was not called for a second interview, but coincidentally some time after she met an old friend that took the job in question and she realized that the salary was not good and the company was coping with important economic challenges.

2- Are the rumors about the seizure of the Saving Funds true?

A male querent asked this question after reading some rumors on the internet. As he had his patrimony in shares of high liquidity he got frightened and consulted me about it.

In that chart we find a strong testimony that those rumors are false, since the angles are not fixed but cardinals.

Besides that, the querent's money is represented by Venus, disposed by Jupiter. Jupiter is leaving Scorpio and is getting ready to enter its rulership sign: Sagittarius, a sign of prosperity. It will take approximately two units of time for the client to feel that his funds are safe and sound and bringing interesting gains.

The Part of the Fortune is in the house of wealth, as well. Therefore nothing bad can happen to the client's money.

Our conclusion is that the affliction is more emotional than objective. Therefore I advised my querent and he trusted me on my judgment.

In fact nothing bad happened and the stock in that year yielded good dividends.
